Radiators are heat exchangers used to transfer thermal energy from one medium to another for the purpose of cooling and heating. The majority of radiators are constructed to function in automobiles, buildings, and electronics. The radiator is always a source of heat to its environment, although this may be for either the purpose of heating this environment, or for cooling the fluid or coolant ...

I have an SH-35 Suburban installed. It can be used for inside or outside access and costs less if you don't buy the outside access door. The major difference between the SF and SH models is that the SH is a little taller and is supposed to be quieter as the blower is larger in diameter and turns slower.
