There are many lovely explanations for why we blow the shofar on Rosh Hashana, but one of the most powerful is given by Moses Maimonides. For Maimonides the shofar is God's alarm clock, waking us up from the "slumber" in which we spend many of our days. What did he mean? God's greatest gift to us is time, and He gives it to us on equal terms.

When that happens, don't be surprised if God sets off his second alarm clock. If God sends someone who cares about you to speak the truth to you, you should be profoundly thankful. What would happen without this second alarm? Think about what happened to Cain and Saul, and then think about what happened to David.
