A living trust is one of the two main ways to avoid probate. (The other is joint tenancy or survivorship.) One of the purposes of probate is to determine the disposition of the property you leave at death. Since the trustee of your living trust owns that property, there is no need for probate. Living trusts have become extremely popular in ...

LIVING TRUSTS inter vivos trust

Nolo's Online Living Trust is a revocable living trust. Revocable means you can cancel it at any time. It's called a "living" trust because it's created when you're alive, not at your death like some other kinds of trusts. When you create a revocable living trust, you appoint yourself as trustee with full power to manage trust property.
